
Important information about depositing your thesis

Award of your degree is subject to two copies of your thesis being received by the Research Services Office. One of these copies must now be in a computer file format (saved to a CD or USB). Both copies of your thesis must include a signed consent form. The Research Services Office will send your digital copy to the Library for deposit into La Trobe University Research Online (La Trobe University's open access institutional research repository).

Benefits

Archiving your thesis in La Trobe University Research Online offers many benefits:

- Your thesis can be easily located, read, and shared by a global audience, including scholarly colleagues as well as potential publishers and employers.
- Your thesis can be easily located by search engines, such as Google, Google Scholar and Yahoo, and National and International repository search engines
- The increased accessibility to your thesis increases the likelihood of it being cited in other scholarly work.
- Your thesis is securely stored, with access to it ensured with a permanent URL, to which you can refer and link from your resume, email messages, and web pages.

Access the Digital Thesis deposit guidelines and procedures at www.lib.latrobe.edu.au/thesis/

Need more information or help?

Thesis deposit Enquires
Christine Lucas
T +61 3 9479 2924
E repository@latrobe.edu.au

Research Repository Coordinator
Roderick Sadler
T +61 3 9479 5688
E repository@latrobe.edu.au